OFFER PLAN FOR BROADER GOVERNMENT

U. S., France and Britain Put Forth New Idea To Western Germans

WASHINGTON, April 23—(AP)—The United States, Britain and France held out an offer of broader self-governing powers to the western Germans today in an urgent effort to get a federal state started in the former enemy country.

With a possible cold war victory for Russia hanging on the outcome, the United States rushed its top trouble shooter on German affairs, Ambassador Robert D. Murphy, overseas to sell the compromise proposal to balking leaders of the German social Democratic party.

The powerful Socialists had claimed that the original three-power plan for a German state in the western occupation zones would impose too great a limit on the proposed government, especially in financial matters.

The new concessions are aimed at meeting some of the Socialists' demands, which have blocked approval of the plan by the German parliamentary council working at Bonn on the draft of a constitution for the new state.

The first reaction to the proposals from Bonn was favorable. Some political leaders there predicted the compromise offer might break the present stalemate.

German rejection of the self-government plan would be regarded as a hard blow to the west in its struggle with Soviet Russia to keep Germany from Communist control.

Suggests Union
French Foreign Minister Schuman said in Paris yesterday that it might somehow be possible to have a western German state and an eastern German state "under the same hat," but he didn't say how.

He also indicated at a news conference that a four power conference in Germany might be in the making. But in any case, Schuman said, the western powers will go ahead with their plans for the western zones.

Murphy, American political adviser on German affairs, is due in Frankfurt by air in time for a critical meeting Monday between the western military governors and the German leaders.

Secretary of State Acheson ordered the trip yesterday shortly before the State department announced the concessions.

These are contained in a memorandum sent April 8 to Gen. Lucius D. Clay and the British and the French military governors with instructions that it might be passed on to the Germans at an "appropriate" time.

Submitted to the Bonn council yesterday, the memorandum drawn up by the three foreign ministers makes these points:

1. Berlin cannot be included at this time in the new federal government for west Germany, which is to be made up of 11 member or individual states.
2. The central government should be given "sufficient" power over matters involving more than one state.
3. "Financial independence" would be limited, the central government should have power to distribute federal tax funds to the less wealthy states.

The Socialists favor government ownership of major industries along the lines of the British labor government's program and have been pressing insistently for central government control of major sources of taxation to finance their plans.

Rev. Greer recalls school days with Alben Barkley.

Rev. Greer Recalls School Days With Alben Barkley

By PEARL WALKER

School days with Alben Barkley, vice president of the United States, are recalled by Rev. E. L. Greer, pastor of the Locust Grove Baptist church, near Greenford, for 17 years, who has the distinction of being the only person in this section, so far as is known, to attend college with Barkley.

Rev. Greer and the vice president were students in Marvin college, near Clinton, Ky.

Barkley's graduation is vivid in the mind of the minister, because on that memorable night the two competed in an oratorical contest and Barkley won the $50-gold medal award offered by the faculty to the winner. Rev. Greer was a junior and he and Barkley were the only students who qualified for the contest.

A woman in shabby black dress and a splint bonnet sat in the rear of the auditorium and at the close of the exercises Barkley made his way to her and laid his diploma in her lap. She was his mother, Mrs. John W. Barkley, who had taken in washings to help finance his education. But Barkley also helped himself, through the job of janitor. There was a stove in every room. Barkley would leave his class to recollect the fires. Ringing the school bell was also included in his duties.

Marvin, at the time these "boys" attended, had a student body of around 250. The college has been discontinued, and the building is now used for a hotel.

"You may not agree with his politics, but Alben Barkley is a wonderful man," Rev. Greer commented.

Rev. Greer, who is retiring from the ministry after 39 years of service, officially ended his duties at the Locust Grove church April 10, although he is serving as a supply until his successor is secured.

The congregation honored him with a farewell reception and dinner Thursday evening in the social room. Approximately 80 were in attendance.

Rev. and Mrs. Greer were presented a gift of $105 and a white cheville bedspread. The pastor gave a talk, expressing appreciation.

During his pastorate there, he received 114 members, 95 by baptism, making a total of 178 now enrolled. He also conducted 20 funerals and married 26 couples. Of the 26, only one couple has been divorced, according to the pastor.

The Sunday school has an average attendance of 80.

This congregation was organized in 1842, and held its first service in a log church. In 1843, the present edifice was erected. It has an auditorium with a seating capacity of approximately 150. The building was remodeled in 1928 and a basement added, which is used for Sunday school and social purposes.

Three thousand tons of dirt were used in landscaping the grounds, which includes a church cemetery.

Rev. Greer came to Locust Grove from the West Lafayette Baptist church, where he was pastor for five years.

The ministry has given Rev. Greer many unusual experiences.

Keith Riffle's orchestra provided the music for the cast followed at the Legion home.

ONE OF FEW CLUES FIZZLES IN CASE OF MURDERED STAR

ATLANTA, April 23—(AP)—One of the few clues in the baffling slaying of Metropolitan Opera Tenor John Garis apparently fizzled out today.

Dr. Herman Jones, Fulton (Atlanta) county criminologist, said a man arrested in Clinton, S. C., apparently was not involved in Garis' mysterious death.

The man, driving a New York-licensed automobile, was arrested late Thursday. A Belgian-type automatic pistol was found among burglar tools in the automobile.

Dr. Jones and Detective J. M. Pack went to Clinton to question the man. Dr. Jones said they now are trying to connect him with a series of unsolved Atlanta burglaries.

Police continued to search for a green Buick automobile, reportedly occupied by a small, saw-toothed man and a handsome woman.

Night Watchmen Dewey Wrenn told police he saw it three times about the warehouse district alley where the tenor's bullet-pierced body was found early Thursday.

Wrenn said he remembered it well because it bore no license plate. He also said he heard a pistol shot in the direction of the rain-sodden alley about the time Garis was killed by a steel-jacketed pistol bullet.

Another clue was a restaurant keeper's report that a man answering Garis' description, accompanied by other men, briefly visited his place the night of the slaying.

Garis met death about the time others of the 350-member Metropolitan Opera company left by train for Memphis, Tenn., after three nights in Atlanta. He himself took his luggage to the station but left before the special train pulled out at 4 a. m. Thursday.

The body of the handsome, six-foot singer lay in the city morgue while the police tried to break the mystery of his death. Plans were made to cremate the body and send the ashes to Garis' native Frankfurt, Germany.

3. Exempt from control requirements all articles costing under $100. At present, the exemption is for goods costing under $50.

The board's move to make control on most goods was 30 per cent. In uncontrolled prewar days, the "typical" allowance by dealers was the same as that to be allowed under the newly relaxed terms, both for autos and other items.)

McCabe indirectly pronounced inflation dead at present by declaring that, since the total volume of installment credit (around $8,000,000) was small against a national income of over $20,000,000,000.

"Any increase in that credit to which relaxation of the regulation might contribute would not under present circumstances be a significant element in reviving inflationary pressures."

It appeared doubtful that all dealers would lower their terms to the extent authorized by the board this time. Board studies show that many in fact have been stricter than the government required, even before the new control easing.

INSTALLMENT CURBS ARE BROADENED

New Limit of 21 Months Becomes Effective On Next Wednesday

WASHINGTON, April 23—(AP)—Beginning next Wednesday, installment buyers will find credit terms as easy as before the war—or easier—unless sellers decide to be stricter than the government requires.

The Federal Reserve board, taking an admittedly inflationary-type action in the wake of recent business declines, announced yesterday it is relaxing credit controls for the second time in less than two months. The board decided to:

1. Lengthen the present 21-month time limit for paying off installment purchases of cars, television sets, furniture, etc., to 24 months, effective April 27.
2. Cut the cash downpayment to 10 per cent from the present 15 per cent for everything but autos—for which it remains 3 1/3 per cent.

Crowds Jam Streets To See Communist Armies Take Over

NANKING, April 23—(AP)—The Chinese government abandoned Nanking today and departing Nationalist troops blew up the big railway station just outside the undefended walls of the capital.

All along the Yangtze, demoralized government troops gave way before the Red assault that breached the great river barrier. Four Nationalist armies, totaling probably 100,000 men, retreated southward. They left Nanking's waterfront in flames and the city unprotected from the fury of looting mobs.

The capital awaited the entry of the Communists. Crowds stood in the streets—some glum, some curious—for the sight of the triumphant Reds.

'Negotiations for turning the city over to the Communists already were reported under way. Gen. Ma Chin-Yuan, chairman of the Nanking emergency peace preservation committee, said earlier he had made contact with the Reds for this purpose.

How soon the Reds would take over no one would say—if they knew. There was only one reason they had not yet come: They had not yet chosen to do it.

Reds 40,000 Strong
The Communist 35th and 37th armies—about 40,000 strong—faced the capital across the Yangtze. There was nothing to stop them.

Flames and smoke billowed up all along Nanking's river port from fires set by government troops as they pulled out. Mobs surged through the area looting everything they could lay hands on.

With Red troops in overwhelming force across the Yangtze between Nanking and Shanghai, the latter city was in an untenable position.

(Shanghai said few troops could be seen there. This raised speculation that Gen. Tang En-Po, commander in the Nanking-Shanghai area, already had sent his main Shanghai defense forces south.)

Canton seemed likely to become the refugee capital. (China's foreign ministry in Canton asked foreign embassies to make a move south coast metropolis from Nanking.)

Acting President Li Tsung-Jen also was reported gone from Nanking, scene of his futile maneuvering for peace. His destination was not known. Members of his family in Hong Kong said Li had arrived in Canton.)

Li and "retired" President Chiang Kai-Shek met yesterday at Hangchow, 150 miles southeast of Nanking. They issued a declaration that they would stand "to the end." But where? And with what?

The situation was deteriorating rapidly. Thousands of Communist troops were across the river on both sides of Nanking.

They were racing out from a vast Bridgehead 60 miles southwest of Nanking. They easily could drive straight east across the line of the Nanking garrison's retreat.

Other Red veterans slashed across the highway and railway connecting Nanking and Shanghai. These forces can apply frontal pressure on the dispirited Nanking garrison in its flight.

Or they could head for Hangchow, where Chiang Kai-Shek last was reported. Red Leader Mao Tse-tung has ordered Chiang's capture as China No. 1 "war criminal." Capture would be difficult. Chiang has a redoubt on Formosa and the planes to take him there.

Still intact but under frontal attack was the 200,000-man army of Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi defending Hankow. This central Chinese base is 375 miles southwest of Nanking on the Yangtze.

Let Sam Pay For It

Two typical blueprints for the welfare state now are before congress—a plan to subsidize eating and a plan to subsidize sickness.

Both plans call for the same thing—for Uncle Sam to pay the difference between what a thing costs and what the public wants to pay. And politics being what it is, no one can have any illusions about where that will lead in the long run. The cost will rise and what the public wants to pay will be held to a minimum for the sake of votes.

In the plan to subsidize eating, there is no direct charge to the consumer. The deficit will be paid out of existing tax income. But in the plan to subsidize sickness, there is a built-in tax—a net increase of tax income. Sickness, unlike eating, is not universal. Some people never get sick. Or they get sick so rarely that the cost of being sick doesn't concern them. But by taxing them at a good stiff rate for a lifetime they can be made to pay for the sickness of others. That's known as spreading the risk.

Mr. Truman's new blueprint for health insurance, like the new blueprint for subsidies to farmers and all other welfare-state blueprints, will be presented as a boon to mankind. No other aspect will be mentioned because that would be discourteous to the helpers of mankind. So at the risk of being discourteous it is being mentioned for the umpteenth time that by the time Americans get through paying one another's grocery, doctor, hospital and housing bills, with politicians clipping out their 10 percent and more as a service charge, mankind will need a lot more booning than it needs now.

Paul Robeson, Oppressed

The speech made by Paul Robeson to the Communist-backed world peace congress in Paris last Wednesday was so bitter against the United States that the speaker's countrymen can only wonder what lies behind such feeling.

"It is unthinkable," said Robeson, "that American Negroes would go to war on behalf of those who have oppressed us for generations against a country (the Soviet union) which is one generation has raised our people to the full dignity of mankind."

Paul Robeson at the age of 51 has had a full life. Before he took up agitation for Communist revolution, he had been acclaimed as a great athlete, a great actor and a great concert singer. He is a graduate of Rutgers university, where he won national fame as an all-American end on Walter Camp's football team. He was elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary fraternity. He earned a degree in law from Columbia university. He has received a number of honorary degrees. He was successful on the stage in his first appearance and went on rapidly to win international acclaim as the possessor of one of the greatest talents discovered in his generation.

We are not arguing that all colored people in the United States have had the same opportunities as Paul Robeson. Few white people have had them—and fewer yet have had his outstanding ability. We are saying that Paul Robeson is not an oppressed colored person and never has been; that many colored persons in the United States have risen above oppression when they encountered it; and that for Paul Robeson to pretend that this is not so in the United States is a grievous disappointment to everybody who has tried to be decent and fair in dealing with the problem of the Negro minority. His bitter speech to a Communist-sponsored gathering in Paris needs to be answered—preferably by spokesmen for his own race who are ashamed of his prejudice.

Plus A Gold Mine

A presidential quip that a government official needs the hide of an elephant and an iron constitution might be broadened to include a gold mine—for good measure.

An official who doesn't have a gold mine or its equivalent is at a disadvantage. Government pay never can be high enough to compare favorably with non-government salaries. No important official can live satisfactorily on it, without other resources. The public can't afford to compete with private employers. The most it can hope to do is make a gesture of sympathy.

There, the tendency is to look to men with other resources to fill the really important jobs. This means the officials will be sniped at by those who envy them, or who distrust all persons with financial success. That's where the hide of an elephant comes in handy. The iron constitution, of course, is an obvious necessity. There is no such thing as a 40-hour week for the holders of important jobs.

Americans never have thought too clearly about the problem of getting big men for big jobs in government. They have assumed that somebody will turn up who will be adequate and frequently have learned they were wrong. Mr. Truman is waiting for somebody to turn up for a number of important jobs now open, with more vacancies coming up, and no one in sight to fill them without falling back on political cronies and professional military men who don't expect to get paid very well anyway. It was assumed after his election last November that there'd be a rush to get into the government at the top level, but the rush is in the other direction—to get out.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, April 24

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

SUNDAY'S horoscope encourages pursuit of the unusual, exceptional and inspirational rather than the commonplace and accustomed. Everyday and humdrum affairs may not begot enthusiasm or pleasure, in fact any efforts in such grooves may prove futile.

The biting urge to make changes, engage in new enterprise, make fresh plans or contacts, may not bring the happiness or constructive climax expected. The impulses, drives may lead to trouble, with reactions on health and funds. A day of rest, introspection or advanced study might be profitable.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may not prosper along the lines most cherished by its high tension or desire for fresh fields, change, travel, inspiring adventure or romantic exploits.

In fact, such might be unprofitable, attended by a strange drive to take chances in many directions outside the workaday and conventional. Such might find unhappy reactions on the physical energies and peace of mind, as well as on the position or financial well being. A period of rest and study of the unusual, may advance emotional or cultural aspirations. Safeguard funds from sudden loss.

A child born on this day, while possessing unusual talents with dominant urges to achieve the exceptional or spectacular, may not find the rich fulfillments counted upon. There may be reversals.

For Monday, April 25

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is a most encouraging one for advancing the position, seeking recognition, promotion, endorsement from superiors, or for securing the substantial support and resources of those whose aid is imperative to putting over important objectives. Talents, study, well-laid plans and good judgment in elaborating techniques, ways and means for enhancing the position and objectives. Properly presented there may be happy alliances in social, cultural as well as business relations.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are urged to make haste in reaching out for the materialization of some of their fondest hopes and wishes. The prospects are most auspicious for an enlarged field of operation, with promotion and preferment from those in influential places, whose cooperation or friendship may be vital in the attainment of cherished goals.

Profession, career, prestige and popularity should be advanced, with growing expansion, scope and solidity. The social domestic and romantic factors are also highly expected, promising festivities and joyous functions in celebrating of outstanding events or dignities.

A child born on this day is bountifully equipped for a career of prominence in financial, business, professional and cultural circles, enjoying prestige and dignities in all affiliations.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Treating A Painful Ear Infection

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Fungus infection of the external ear, previously believed to be a disorder confined to those living in tropic areas, is by no means uncommon in the United States today. For that reason, the war experience of Dr. Ben L. Bryant of Los Angeles is helpful. In one 20-month period he observed more than 4,000 cases of this disorder. He found that the usual method treatment cleared up the condition for a time, but that patients invariably had a recurrence of the disorder within three to five weeks.

Successful Treatment
This experience has led to a more thorough-going and successful treatment, aimed first at getting rid of the secondary infections which nearly always over-grow the fungus and, afterwards, deal with the fungus itself.

Keeping the ear canal meticulously clean is the first necessary step in treatment. This often requires great patience on the part of the physician, since thorough cleansing of a badly inflamed ear may take as much as 20 minutes. A thorough job can be done only by washing the ear canal by means of a large metal syringe. There is no danger in this procedure if the ear canal is carefully and thoroughly dried afterwards. This must, however, be done with a light hand so as to avoid further injury to the canal wall.

When the inflammation of the skin is moderate and there is only a slight swelling of the tissues, inserting a piece of cotton covered with a sulfathiazol ointment, and replacing it with a similar pledget after 24 hours, is usually sufficient to overcome the difficulty. The piece of cotton should fill the ear canal without causing any painful pressure.

If the swelling of the ear canal is marked and pimples have formed, X-ray treatment may be advisable.

May Be Painful
Inflammation of the external ear canal may be so extremely painful that it is necessary to give some pain-relieving substance until the condition subsides.

After the inflammation has cleared up, steps are taken to eliminate the fungus causing the difficulty. The ear canal should first be washed and then completely dried. Ear drops, containing bichloride of mercury in alcohol, may be put into the ear canal. Each day, for several days, the ear canal must again be washed to get rid of dead tissue cells which interfere with the action of the antiseptics employed. The ear drops should be employed for six weeks after all symptoms have disappeared.

MURDER OF STAR OPERA SINGER HAS POLICE BAFLED

ATLANTA, April 23—(AP)—There were no encores today for the deepest role of tragedy Metropolitan Opera Singer John Garris ever portrayed.

If there had been, the 35-year-old native of Frankfort-on-Main, Germany, would not have heard them. His body lay in the city morgue while police sought to provide the supporting cast for his ghastly last role.

Garris was shot to death Wednesday night in a plot as dark as any that ever went into make-believe. His body was found lying in an alley early yesterday.

"Murder is usually fouled up," said Homicide Lt. M. M. Coppenger, "but this is worse than the most."

A steel-jacketed bullet dealt death. Garris' purse with $20 in it was near the body. A costly wrist watch was on his arm.
The rest of the Metropolitan Opera company, after three nights in Atlanta, were enroute by train for Memphis, Tenn.
General Manager Edward Johnson, upon arrival in Memphis, said the singer's character was "perfect as far as we know."
Coppenger and another investigator reached Memphis by plane ahead of the company. They questioned the members briefly, then released them for their one-night Memphis appearance, in "Lucia di Lammermoor."
The snow went on without a sign from the cast of the tragedy left behind. In the lobby, Garris' bizarre death ruled the conversation. Police officers circulated backstage. They watched, but disclosed nothing.

Revokes Juke Taxes
AKRON, April 23—Suburban Cuyahoga Falls' $25-a-year tax on juke boxes has been lifted pending the outcome of a court challenge.
Common Pleas Judge Frank H. Harvey yesterday granted a temporary restraining order against collection of the city tax until he could hear a suit charging it is unconstitutional.

Police Pondering Man's Odd Fence

SPRINGFIELD, April 23—(AP)—City officials today pondered the next move in their feud with the man and the fluorescent fence.
John Davis, 44, built himself a fence of burned out fluorescent light bulbs two years ago and none seemed to mind until recently. The American Medical Association issued a warning some weeks ago against the dangers of beryllium salt used to line the interior of the bulbs.
The AMA cautioned against breaking the tubes and allowing beryllium dust to be breathed or some of the poisonous compound to enter the skin. That might be fatal.

Fire Chief Grover L. Frock of Springfield told Davis the fence was a menace because of children who might fall against one of the fence posts. City Solicitor James Wilson also ordered the fence be removed. And what is Davis going to do about it? See his lawyer before removing the fence of burned out bulbs, he says.

N. Y. Central Official Fights Stock Transfer

WASHINGTON, April 23—(AP)—Boynton S. Vorhees, vice president of the New York Central railroad, said today his line would suffer seriously if stock control of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad is taken by the Pennsylvania and Wabash lines.
Vorhees testified at an Interstate Commerce commission hearing on application of the Pennsylvania and Wabash to acquire stock ownership of both the D.T.I. and the Springfield Suburban railroad, a small switching carrier at Springfield, O.
Vorhees said the Pennsylvania system already has great strength as compared with its competitors and that further acquisitions would only increase the "disparity" between that system and other carriers.
He added that New York Central foresees diversion of traffic from its lines if D.T.I. comes into the Pennsylvania network.

Through the Years with Salem - The First Settlers, 1806

Out to this part of Ohio in 1806 came three Pennsylvania Quakers, Zadock Street, John Strong and Samuel Davis, looking for new farmlands. Pleased with the pleasantly rolling land in the vicinity of what later would become Salem, they decided to settle here, and each staked out a land claim. For months they worked hard, clearing land and starting cabins. They went back to Redstone, Pennsylvania, for the first winter, but returned with their families in the early spring. The homesteaders worked hard, planting and tending crops and completing their cabins, and by autumn each family had the satisfaction of a home, and the assurance of enough food to last the winter.

Family Joys Are Really Shared ... by Long Distance

You get an extra boost out of big thrills when you share them with the family, whether it's a new house, a big promotion or a "little stranger." And no matter how far apart you may be, those thrills really can be shared when you have the long distance habit.

It's so much more satisfying than writing. You hear their enthusiasm; you answer their questions; you get their ideas and advice instantly. The cost is surprisingly low, too. Check the inside front cover of your directory for typical rates.

Yankees Team To Watch, After Four Straight Victories

Measure Boston In Battle Yesterday; Indians Come Through With Tight Win

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Casey Stengel's New York Yankees, unbeaten in four starts, are the surprise team of the majors in the first week of the season.

When the crippled "Bombers" polished off Washington in three straight, the critics said, "wait until they start playing the big leaguers." Yesterday they took the Boston Red Sox 5-3. Maybe it's time to take them seriously.

Nobody gave the Yanks much of a chance at the pennant, even before Joe DiMaggio's heel started acting up. When DiMaggio was hospitalized and lost for an indefinite period, the club was doomed to the second division.

Pitching is the Yankee strength. That has been Stengel's claim all along. Ed Lopat, Vic Raschi and Tommy Byrne went all the way. Aute Reynolds got no-hit relief from Joe Page in the last three innings yesterday.

Now it's Fred Sanford's turn. After the $100,000 pitcher gets his shot, Casey can return to Lopat. It's an impressive starting array even without the injured Bob Porterfield.

Tex Hughson failed his first real test for Joe McCarthy. Much of the Tribe's pennant hopes hinge on Hughson's ability to come back after last year's arm trouble.

Hughson walked six Yankees and was rapped for five hits in six innings although he wasn't charged with the loss. That went to Earl Johnson, who was responsible for three New York runs in the seventh.

The largest opening day crowd in Fenway park history, 33,955, saw the loosely played game.

Cleveland drew 63,725, best of the "second openers."

Gene Bearden, the knuckle ball artist who was the hero of the Tribe's playoff win over the Red Sox and World Series triumph, went the distance to trim Detroit, 4-3, in 10 innings.

Clark Griffith got the night season under way at Washington in the Nats' second home game. A crowd of 9,011 turned out to watch Carl Scheib of the Philadelphia A's blank Washington with four hits, 2-0.

The Chicago White Sox staged a four-run rally in the fourth inning to down the St. Louis Browns, 5-2. Rookie Gus Zernia's homer touched off the Sox uprising against Red Embree and Tom Ferrick.

Ralph Kiner started his campaign for the home run title by blasting one with the bases loaded in Pittsburgh's 5-4 victory over Cincinnati.

Al Brazier set down the Chicago Cubs with four hits as the St. Louis Cardinals broke into the win column for the first time, 9 to 2. Stan Musial hit his first homer, Marty Marion unloaded a three-run double and Red Schoendienst came through with three hits in pinning less No. 1 on Johnny Schmitz.

Rain and darkness forced the umpires to call the New York Giants-Boston Braves game at the end of nine innings with the score tied 6-6.

WILL CHANGE RATE PLAN IN FOOTBALL IN WEST VIRGINIA

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 23—(AP)—The games will no longer disqualify otherwise unbeaten high school football teams for the state championship.

That change in the year-old rating plan was one of several made here yesterday at a meeting of high school principals, who make up the governing board of scholastic athletics.

Another change will require a playoff game between the two highest-ranking elevens for the championship. The old rule made a playoff necessary only if the rating system put two teams with less than two percent of their combined total.

Under the old rules, only unbeaten and untied teams were considered for the state title so long as any team remained in that class. Under the change, a team is disqualified only if it has been beaten.

A third change would permit a school to obtain points for its games against out-of-state opponents, but it would be required to provide all needed statistical data on the opposing team. Some officials said they considered this plan unworkable, and expressed doubt it would be used.

Besides changing the rating system, the principals reelected Fred P. Wehl of Weston to the three-man board of athletic appeals raised the board treasurer's salary from $100 to $300 a year, and approved one change in eligibility rules.

The change applies only to ninth graders in six-year high schools. It provides that once a ninth-grader attains varsity status in any sport, he becomes ineligible for junior high competition only in that sport.

He formerly lost his right to compete in any junior high athletics.

MANSFIELD EVENT BEGINS ROUND OF BIG TRACK MEETS

Circuit's Season Really Gets Rolling With the State's No. 1 Meet

Py JIM DAILEY
MANSFIELD, April 23 — (UP)—Ohio's 1949 schoolboy track campaign starts its major phase today with the first of three historical meets gets under way at Mansfield.

Director Harry Meheok of Mansfield High school popped the starting gun Friday afternoon on the four-mile relay to get the 18th annual Mansfield carnival off. Approximately 1,000 high school competitors were expected to enter the events.

The Mansfield meet traditionally starts the races for glory which continue with the famed Delaware relays and then wind up with the state track meet at Columbus the last week in May.

George E. Gauthier, athletic director and track coach at Ohio Wesleyan, is the major domo of the Delaware meet, also set for its 18th renewal, over the Selby field oval weekend. The state competition May 27-28 climaxes a round of district meets starting May 14.

The success of the Mansfield carnival can be laid almost wholly on the shoulders of Meheok, who built it from a three-team event in 1927 to its present 60-odd team emporium.

Outstanding stars who performed in the meet in the past include such Olympic greats as Sprinter Jesse Owens, Sprinter and Hurdler Harrison Dillard, High Jumper Dave Albritton and Hurdler Jack Keller.

Last year Springfield won both the Mansfield and Delaware carnival can be laid almost wholly on the shoulders of Meheok, who built it from a three-team event in 1927 to its present 60-odd team emporium.

The prize list for the 1949 Mansfield carnival includes 22 trophies for team achievement and 220 individual awards. The Tiger Boosters club, an organization of Mansfield businessmen which backs the relays, has contributed $1,500 to its success.

Top award is the huge three-foot high rotating trophy now held by Springfield. The trophy, the first of which was retired by Cleveland East Tech in 1941, goes permanently to the first club which wins three relays.

In the Delaware relays, team trophies will be awarded to the top three finishers in the Class A and B divisions. Gold, silver and ribbon

Huesman Entrant In Canfield Race

CANFIELD, O., April 23—Buddy Huesman of Toledo is an early entrant for the Canfield Midget auto races which open Saturday night, April 30.

Huesman will be remembered by the many fans of this area as the surprise winner of the Midseason championship race at the Canfield Speedway in 1948. He has been racing in the Chicago area during the winter season and has done a remarkably fine job of competing against the top AAA drivers who gather in the Chicago area throughout the winter season and is expected to be one of the leaders in the opener here Saturday night, April 30.

Neal Carter of Miami, Fla., who has won two features in a row at Sportsman's park will also be a leading contender. He is one of the most daring midget car drivers in the AAA ranks. Carter will be piloting one of the Jim White team of cars and the Michigan-Ohio champion of 1948, Ralph Pratt, is his teammate.

All midget racing at the Canfield speedway will be under the sanction of the contest board of the American Automobile association. Their representative today inspected the Canfield racing strip and announced it is in fine condition for the onslaught of the top array of midget cars and stars who will compete in the opening program on the 30th.

Gates to the speedway will open at 8:30 time trials at 7, and the first event of the eight-event program will get the AAA starter's flag promptly at 8:30 DST.

Freddie Hutchinson allowed the Tribe only six hits in the eight innings he worked.

Nicked for one hit, and the loss, was Reliever Paul "Dizzy" Trout. But it was Vernon's birthday and the slender flyer baseman came through, both at .3 plate and in the field.

With Cleveland leading 3 to 2 in the ninth, Evers, Groth, and Pinch Hitter Eddie Lake singled to tie up the game, this setting the stage for Vernon's heroics.

Larry Doby reached first when Second Baseman Neil Berry booted his grounder. Manager Lou Boudreau moved Doby to second with a neat sacrifice bunt and Gordon was passed intentionally.

Then Vernon cracked a liner to left field, scoring Doby and breaking up the ball game.

The dropped flyball was the act of Bengal Center Fleider Groth. The wind played havoc with everything hit into the air and Groth ran in and then out for Bearden's long drive before letting it bounce out of his glove.

The veteran Gauthier expects track enthusiasm this year to outshine every season in his experience as he notes an increase in entries pouring in for his carnivals.

"I have never seen as much interest in the relays and in track in general in all my years of coaching," Gauthier said. "Everywhere I go the coaches assure me that they will be in Delaware on the 30th."

Boys between 15 and 18 years of age interested in baseball are asked to report for the first workout of the American Legion baseball team at the Legion home at 2 p. m. Sunday.

Coaches Brautigan and Cornelius Csepke will conduct the initial workouts.

A meeting will be held at the home before the actual practices.

ANOTHER LARGE THROG TO WATCH INDIANS TODAY

Bearden's Win Is Rather Shaky, But Holds Those Tigers to 6 Hits

CLEVELAND, April 23—(AP)—If Cleveland Indian President Bill Veeck's hex on the weather holds out, the Tribe will go out after their fourth straight victory with another huge crowd today.

Early Wynn will toe the slab for the Tribe opposed by the Detroit Tiger's great Hal Newhouser.

Sunny skies and a clutch single by Mickey Vernon made all Cleveland partisans happy yesterday as Gene Bearden nipped the Bengals 4 to 3 in a 10-inning duel before a home opening-day crowd of 63,724.

The carnival spirit was everywhere in Municipal stadium and the players were not the least of those affected. Fly balls were dropped, wild pitches were thrown, and a cameraman even got into the act by getting run over as Catcher Jim Hegans chased a pop foul.

Bearden, guilty of three wild pitches and five bases on balls, allowed but six hits. Hoot Evers got three of the blows. The sensational Johnny Groth, shackled for three trips, cracked a single and scored the tying run for the Tigers in the ninth.

Freddie Hutchinson allowed the Tribe only six hits in the eight innings he worked.

Nicked for one hit, and the loss, was Reliever Paul "Dizzy" Trout. But it was Vernon's birthday and the slender flyer baseman came through, both at .3 plate and in the field.

Relay Victory Gives Louisville Margan

A victory in the mile relay, final event on the program, enabled the Louisville track team to record a 61-57 dual meet victory over Troy Penner's Salem High thunders Friday night at Rolly stadium.

The Quakers held a 57-56 lead going into that event, but couldn't quite make the grade in the four-lap affair.

Improvement in performance was shown by Paul Provins in the mile and Ray Yeager in the 440. Jerry Miller of Salem copped the 100-yard dash.

A relatively new family of organic orocarbons, promises to have many important industrial applications in the future, ranging from combustion-resistant hydraulic fluids for airplanes to anesthetics, insecticides and germicides.

REV. GREER

young man in the story was a Christian, being opposed by the bride's father, a moonshiner. The pastor knew the circumstances and heard the exchange of vows while the couple were making a getaway.

During World war I, when Rev.
Greer was preaching against the liquor traffic, a Georgian made the remark that the minister should be put into the war for gunfodder. Just three weeks from the time this man made the remark, Rev. Greer preached his funeral sermon.

Rev. Greer was more than a match for another Georgian, who tried to scare him off with a gun.
The minister and his wife were repeating an old weatherworn church in the Rome district. One evening they were in the home of a family where the wife was in sympathy with their work, but her husband was not. Seated in the living room they heard a shot fired in the next room. The women were startled and rushed out of the house. Rev.
Greer opened the door and there upon a bed was his "host" with a double-barrelled shotgun beside him. The parson picked up a chair and threatened to use it on the man, who begged for mercy and explained he was shooting to scare chicken thieves. The bullet holes in the ceiling led Rev. Greer to believe he had another mare. But the Greers did stay all night in the home.

Bath Tub Conversion
It was not unusual for Rev. Greer to cut the ice to perform a baptismal service, but only once did he administer this sacred rite in a bath tub. He was holding meetings at Marietta and one of his converts was a man who was confined to his home by ill health. After he was converted he requested to be baptized, so the pastor used the bath tub for a baptistry.

After graduating from Marvin,
Rev. Greer graduated from Draughon Business college, Nashville, Tenn., in preparation for a business career. However, he had a definite call from God to preach. While he held several positions, including assistant superintendent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., at Cairo, Ill., they did not bring him satisfaction.

Thus, he was ordained a Baptist minister September, 1914, at Rome, Ga., and did mission work in that district.

The first year he was in the ministry his salary was $46. Rev. Greer explained that he raised cotton on the side to help support his family. "However, we never went hungry," he declared.

Answering God's call has given him "a good conscience," the veteran said.

His first pastorate in Ohio was the Cuyahoga Falls Baptist church, and he was the first pastor of the church, having gone there when it was being organized.

The Greers are residing in Lisbon.

CONFIRMS REPORT OF CONFERENCES

PARIS, April 23—(AP)—Foreign Minister Robert Schuman indicated yesterday a conference of Russia and the western powers may be in the making, in an effort to end the cold war in Germany.

He told a news conference, however, no such meeting will be held until the Russians lift their Berlin blockade. He said informal discussions already have been held by the four powers at Lake Success concerning the blockade, without producing any definite Soviet proposals for lifting it.

At Lake Success informed quarters said United States Ambassador-at-large Philip C. Jessup and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malik discussed the Berlin situation about three weeks ago.

Schuman, asked about various reports of Russian overtures to the United States, Britain and France, answered with a smile:

"Some have been in error; others have been exact."
